

Product License & Usage Terms

Jody Enget Counseling & Consulting, PLLC

Effective Date: September 15, 2026

Last Updated: September 19, 2026

These Product License & Usage Terms apply to digital products, downloadable materials, curricula, presentations, manuals, worksheets, and related educational resources purchased or obtained from Jody Enget Counseling & Consulting, PLLC ("JEC&C," "we," "us," or "our").

By purchasing, downloading, accessing, or using a digital product from this website, you agree to these Product License & Usage Terms in addition to our Terms & Conditions, Privacy Policy, Digital Product Refund & Cancellation Policy, Disclaimer, and any product-specific terms provided at the time of purchase.

One Purchase = One Individual or One Organization

Unless expressly stated otherwise, one purchase licenses the product to one purchasing individual or one purchasing organization for its own internal educational and professional use. Materials may be shared internally with authorized personnel of the purchasing organization when appropriate to the product, but the digital file may not be shared with unrelated individuals or organizations, resold, published online, or commercially redistributed.

1. Ownership of Materials

All digital products remain the intellectual property of their respective copyright owners, authors, contributors, or licensors.

Purchasing a product does not transfer copyright, ownership, authorship, trademark rights, or other intellectual-property rights to the purchaser. Your purchase grants only the limited right to use the material according to these terms.

Certain materials may have been created in collaboration with or include intellectual property belonging to third parties. Any product-specific copyright, license, or attribution notices must remain intact.

2. License Granted

Unless otherwise stated on a product page or within the purchased material, JEC&C grants the purchaser a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable, revocable license for internal educational and professional use.

One purchase applies to one purchasing individual or one purchasing organization. The license does not extend to unrelated individuals, separate organizations, partner organizations, affiliated but legally separate entities, chapters, franchise locations, or outside clients unless JEC&C gives written permission or a separate license expressly allows it.

3. Individual Purchases

When a product is purchased by an individual for their own professional use, that individual may download and store the product, print reasonable copies for personal professional reference, make personal notes or annotations, use permitted worksheets or forms within their own practice or program, and present materials internally when the product specifically permits presentation use.

The purchaser may not give, sell, email, upload, publish, or otherwise provide the digital file to another individual who is not authorized under the license.

4. Organizational Purchases

When a product is purchased by an organization, program, facility, clinic, nonprofit, or business entity, the license permits reasonable internal use within that purchasing organization.

Authorized internal users may include employees, staff, contractors working directly for the organization, program facilitators, equine specialists, volunteers, interns, or trainees when their use is consistent with the intended purpose of the product.

The organization may not provide the digital file or substantial portions of the material to unrelated organizations, outside programs, partner organizations, independent professionals, or other third parties unless written permission has been granted.

5. One Purchase Does Not Cover Multiple Organizations

A purchase made by one organization does not grant use rights to affiliated but legally separate organizations, partner programs, chapters, franchise locations, independent facilities, or unrelated third parties unless the product license specifically states otherwise.

If multiple separate organizations wish to use the materials, each organization must obtain its own license unless JEC&C approves another licensing arrangement in writing.

6. Permitted Internal Use

Depending on the nature of the product, permitted internal use may include staff education, volunteer orientation, internal professional development, program planning, facilitator preparation, internal curriculum implementation, horsemanship procedure development, internal reference, printing working copies for authorized staff, using worksheets or forms within the purchasing program, and presenting authorized training materials to the purchasing organization's own staff or volunteers.

Any use must remain consistent with the product description, professional scope of practice, applicable laws, and ethical or licensing requirements.

7. Prohibited Uses

Unless JEC&C provides written permission, purchasers may not:

- Resell any product or portion of a product.
- Redistribute the original digital file.
- Email or otherwise provide the product to unrelated individuals or organizations.
- Upload the product to a public website, social media platform, public file-sharing service, or publicly accessible cloud folder.
- Make the product available through a membership site or third-party resource library.
- Sell printed copies or sell access to the product.

- Sublicense the product.
- Claim authorship or ownership.
- Remove copyright, attribution, or proprietary notices.
- Copy substantial portions into another product for sale.
- Create and sell a competing curriculum, manual, worksheet, course, presentation, or training resource derived substantially from the purchased material.
- Provide the material to another organization as part of paid consulting or training without written permission.
- Reproduce the product for commercial distribution.

8. Internal Training vs. Commercial Training

Some products, such as the Mental Health Orientation Training for EAS Programs PowerPoint, may specifically permit presentation to the purchasing organization's own staff or volunteers. That permission is limited to internal use.

Purchasing a presentation does not automatically authorize the purchaser to charge admission to present the training publicly, sell training based on the presentation, present it as their own proprietary course, provide the presentation to other organizations, use it as part of paid consulting provided to outside clients, or record and sell a presentation of the material.

Written permission is required for commercial or external training use unless expressly stated otherwise.

9. Mental Health Orientation Training PowerPoint

The downloadable Mental Health Orientation PowerPoint may be used by one purchasing individual or one purchasing organization for its own internal staff and volunteer training.

A purchasing organization may present the PowerPoint internally and print reasonable handouts for authorized internal participants when appropriate.

The purchaser may not resell the PowerPoint, share the editable file with unrelated individuals or organizations, upload it publicly, remove authorship or copyright information, offer it as a commercial training product, or represent themselves as the creator or owner of the presentation.

Any additional product-specific instructions supplied with the PowerPoint also apply.

10. Mustard Seed Ranch Program Facilitation Manual

The Mustard Seed Ranch Program Facilitation Manual and associated materials may contain intellectual property developed by or in collaboration with Mustard Seed Ranch, Jody Enget Counseling & Consulting, Dr. John Townsend, and/or other contributors or rights holders.

One purchase licenses the manual to one purchasing individual or one purchasing organization for its own authorized internal use. A purchasing organization may allow appropriate staff, facilitators, clinicians, or program personnel within that organization to use the manual in connection with the organization's own program.

The purchaser may not provide the PDF or digital file to another organization, share the manual with unrelated individuals, resell or redistribute the manual, publish substantial portions online, reproduce the curriculum for commercial distribution, remove authorship or attribution information, represent the curriculum as the purchaser's original work, or create and commercially distribute a substantially derivative curriculum without authorization.

Any copyright, attribution, or license notice contained within the manual itself also applies. If a product-specific license expressly differs from these general Terms, the product-specific license controls for that product.

11. Horsemanship Routine Worksheet

The Guide to Create Your Horsemanship Routine Worksheet is licensed to one purchasing individual or one purchasing organization for its own internal use.

Because the worksheet is specifically designed to help organizations develop their own procedures, the purchaser may complete and customize the worksheet, add facility-specific procedures and terminology, incorporate information unique to its own horses, facility, staff, or program, print reasonable copies for authorized internal users, and share completed internal working copies with personnel within the purchasing organization.

The purchaser may not provide the original or editable digital product to unrelated individuals or organizations, resell the original worksheet, resell a lightly modified version, publish or publicly distribute the original worksheet, remove copyright notices and claim the original material as their own, or commercially distribute a substantially derived product without written permission.

The purchaser retains ownership of original facility-specific information that the purchaser independently creates and adds to the worksheet.

12. Printing and Copying

Reasonable printing and copying for authorized internal use is permitted where appropriate to the product. Permission to print does not grant permission to distribute the product outside the purchasing individual or organization.

13. Modification of Materials

Different products may allow different levels of customization. Where a product is specifically designed to be customized, such as the Horsemanship Routine Worksheet, the purchaser may adapt it for internal program use.

Other materials, including curricula, manuals, and training presentations, should not be substantially altered, republished, or presented in a way that misrepresents original authorship, professional guidance, or intent. Contact JEC&C for written permission before adapting a product beyond normal internal use.

14. Copyright and Attribution Notices

Copyright, trademark, authorship, contributor, and proprietary notices included in a product must not be intentionally removed or obscured. Where attribution is provided in the original material, it must remain associated with the material during authorized use.

15. Use in Client or Participant Programming

Purchase of a resource does not independently authorize a person to provide mental health treatment, psychotherapy, clinical assessment, diagnosis, or other regulated professional services.

Users are responsible for determining whether and how a resource may appropriately be incorporated into their professional practice and for working within their qualifications, legal scope of practice, applicable licensing rules, ethical standards, organizational policies, and supervision requirements.

16. Responsibility for Adaptation and Implementation

Programs, facilities, client populations, horses, staffing structures, professional regulations, and safety requirements vary. Purchasers are responsible for determining whether a particular activity, procedure, concept, curriculum element, or recommendation is appropriate for their setting.

JEC&C does not guarantee that every activity or procedure will be suitable for every organization, horse, participant, client, or environment.

17. No Transfer of Professional Credentials

Purchasing or completing a product does not grant professional licensure, certification, credentialing, authorization to practice psychotherapy, authorization to supervise clinicians, professional competency, Continuing Education approval, or permission to represent oneself as affiliated with JEC&C, Mustard Seed Ranch, PATH International, or another organization.

18. Sharing Through Learning Management Systems or Internal Networks

An organization may store purchased materials on an internal system that is reasonably restricted to authorized users within the purchasing organization. Materials may not be uploaded to systems that make them publicly accessible or accessible to unrelated organizations or users.

19. Artificial Intelligence and Automated Systems

Unless written permission is provided, purchasers may not upload substantial portions of purchased copyrighted materials into publicly accessible artificial-intelligence systems, datasets, model-training systems, or repositories for the purpose of reproducing, distributing, training on, or generating substitute versions of the product.

Using an AI or software tool for limited internal assistance does not grant the right to reproduce, republish, or commercially distribute protected material or derivative products in violation of this license.

20. No Recording of Live Training Without Permission

Live Zoom training, Lunch & Learn sessions, consulting sessions, supervision, or other live educational presentations may not be audio recorded, video recorded, screen recorded, or redistributed without prior permission. If JEC&C provides an authorized recording, access and use may be subject to separate terms.

21. Unauthorized Distribution

Unauthorized copying, distribution, resale, publication, or commercial redistribution may result in termination of the purchaser's license. JEC&C and other applicable rights holders reserve the right to pursue available remedies for infringement or unauthorized use.

22. Refunds and License Termination

A request for a refund, chargeback, cancellation, or product dispute does not authorize continued use, distribution, copying, or sharing of the product.

If a refund is issued in circumstances requiring the license to end, the purchaser must discontinue use and delete digital copies as reasonably requested. Refunds are governed separately by the Digital Product Refund & Cancellation Policy.

23. Product-Specific Terms

Certain products may include additional license restrictions, copyright notices, usage instructions, or permissions. If product-specific terms differ from these general terms, the product-specific terms will control for that product.

24. Requests for Expanded Licensing

Organizations wishing to use materials across multiple legally separate locations, provide materials to partner organizations, incorporate materials into paid external training, license content for a larger network, reproduce content for commercial distribution, create approved adaptations, or obtain permission for uses not covered by this license should contact JEC&C before using the material in that manner.

Expanded licensing may require written permission and additional licensing fees.

25. Termination of License

The license may be terminated if a purchaser materially violates these Product License & Usage Terms. Upon termination, the purchaser must stop unauthorized use and, when reasonably requested, delete or destroy unauthorized copies. Termination does not eliminate obligations arising from previous infringement or unauthorized use.

26. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

These Product License & Usage Terms and any dispute arising out of or relating to them will be governed by and interpreted according to the laws of the State of North Dakota, without regard to conflict-of-law principles, except where applicable law requires otherwise.

To the extent permitted by law, any legal action or proceeding arising from or relating to these Product License & Usage Terms will be brought in an appropriate state or federal court located in North Dakota, and the purchaser consents to the jurisdiction of those courts.

Nothing in this section is intended to prevent the application of consumer-protection or other laws that cannot legally be waived or overridden by agreement.

27. Relationship to Other Website Policies

These Product License & Usage Terms should be read together with the website's Terms & Conditions, Privacy Policy, Digital Product Refund & Cancellation Policy, Disclaimer, and any product-specific notices or agreements. If a separate written agreement applies to a particular purchase or licensing arrangement, that agreement controls where it specifically differs from these general terms.

28. Questions or Permission Requests

Questions about permitted use, organizational licensing, reproduction, training use, or other licensing matters may be directed to Jody Enget Counseling & Consulting, PLLC at Jody@JECandC.com.